Green Visor Capital announces that Mr. James (“Jim”) McKelvey, the Co-Founder and former Chairman, and now current Director of Square, Inc. has been named a Special Adviser to Green Visor Capital. In addition to his successes at Square, Jim has helped launched several notable organizations, including LaunchCode, a non-profit enterprise that trains and places emerging engineering talent into top tier institutions, and SixThirty, a St. Louis-based FinTech Accelerator. Jim graduated from Washington University with dual degrees in Economics and Computer Science.

Jim said: “During my career, I’ve been able to effect a few changes in the Financial Services Industry as a FinTech entrepreneur. At Square, we saw first-hand how technological innovation can impact a large ecosystem like payments for the better. I’m delighted to be lending a hand to the Green Visor team as they promote the next generation of FinTech entrepreneurs looking to reshape financial services.”

Simon Yoo, Founder and Managing Partner of Green Visor Capital said: “Jim is one of the iconic figures in the world of FinTech. It’s hard to overstate the impact that he’s had as an entrepreneur, which has resulted in him being a highly sought after speaker on a range of topics from art to entrepreneurship. He’s also a class act that shares our passion for solving substantive issues in financial services through the use of innovative technology. We greatly look forward to having his input at Green Visor and within our portfolio companies.”
